Kyle Daniel C. [00:00:09] Recently, I just completed my final semester here at the University of Guelph-Humber, and I'm graduating this June.

Kyle Daniel C. So in the future I hope to be content creating and social media. I'm a person that went into media and communications studies because I wanted to use my voice. I hope to inspire people and most importantly, entertain people and make sure people are happy, and that's what I want to do in the future.

Kyle Daniel C. [00:00:38] What I like most about this program is I got hands on experience. I now know how to do graphic design, photography, but I can also do the written parts, the business aspects like public relations writing, news writing. So I'm not limited. If I want to change my career pathways, I can do that because that's how broad and diverse the skillset is what I received from the school.

Kyle Daniel C. [00:01:02] So my favorite class I took here at the University of Guelph-Humber, was media practices because in this course I got to work with a real client. So my team and I worked with the Art Gallery of Mississauga, where I did support for the social media management as well as photography. I got to interact with the client, go outside of the school to actually film and shoot things, it was such an exciting time.

Kyle Daniel C. [00:01:28] I chose the University of Guelph-Humber because it's a small-knit community and there were so many different opportunities to get involved on campus. I had three different work study positions here and I'm very happy that I took it on because a lot of my leadership skills and communication skills has improved because of that and to be able to get the support I did, it's amazing, and it's something that I can always look back on in the future.
